Best and Easiest Ways to Clean House

By L. RAY BALDERSTON, Professor Housewifery and Landscaping, Columbia University.

SCREENS—One of the early things to do in spring housecleaning, and necessary to get fly screens ready. Brush them thoroughly, and to make them look well wipe off with kerosene oil. Use only a few drops of kerosene. Should the screens be rusty, they will need painting.

WALLS ought to be wiped down very carefully and thoroughly. Remove all pictures, and with a soft cloth over the broom, clean the walls by rubbing with straight strokes of even pressure. To rub the paper too hard will blur the pattern.

WOODWORK ought to be considered with the cleaning of the walls. While paint may be wiped with clear water to which a few drops of ammonia have been added. A special cleanser for white paint is a cloth wrung out of clear water and then dipped in whitening.

OILED WOODWORK may be cleaned by wiping with cheesecloth which has been wrung out of hot water into which has been put one tablespoonful of turpentine and two tablespoonfuls of linseed oil to each quart of hot water. As soon as cool enough to bear the hand, wring out the cheesecloth from this mixture, and wipe the wood. This is also a good cleanser for the floors, making them ready to be waxed or polished afterwards.

CARPETS may be sent away to be cleaned, or be done at home. They should have a good airing, and be brushed on both sides. If beaten, a flat beater should be used, as a stick or wire hoop is likely to tear. If after beating the colors of rug or carpet are found to be fast, the rug may be freshened by washing with a heavy soap lather which is put on with an old clean scrubbing brush. Wash a small space at a time, and rinse with clear warm water. Let the rug dry and have a good brushing before it is used.

Among the hostesses for the banquet which will be given at the close of the Navy League convention on Saturday evening at the Willard are Mrs. Robert M. Thompson, Mrs. James Carroll Frazer, Mrs. William Brownson, Mrs. T. Gaff, Miss Sophie Casey, Mrs. Morgan Hill, Mrs. John O'Laughlin, Mrs. Richard Wainwright, Mrs. Gibson, Mrs. Stephen Pell, Mrs. Richard Harlow, Mrs. Frederick L. Chapin, Mrs. John F. Rodgers, Mrs. N. Schreiner and Miss Elizabeth Patterson.

Mrs. James Carroll Frazer, chairman of the committee of the Navy League, will give a large reception on tomorrow evening at her residence on Sixteenth street, in honor of the visiting delegates of the Navy League convention which will be held here tomorrow and Saturday.

The Columbus Country Club will have a dance this evening for members and guests at the clubhouse at Fort Berry, Va.

Dr. Joseph H. Bryan was host at dinner last night at the Chevy Chase Club before the weekly dance.

Several novel features will be introduced at the Maytime dance to be given this evening at the Wardman Park Hotel for the benefit of the Junior Protective Association.

Through a mistake it was announced yesterday that this dance would take place next Tuesday.

Capt. Roy Glen, of the British Embassy, assisted by a group of girls, recently returned from France, has been assigned to command at Camp Merritt, N. J.

There will be an interesting group of society girls taking part in the fair scene of the Salvation Army pageant to be given at the Sylvan Theater on Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Miss End Sims and Miss Polly Brooks have charge of the scene and those helping them include Miss Margaret Deeble, Miss Kathleen Leila Gordon, Miss Marie Sims, Joanne Bankhead, Miss Margaret Harding, Miss Sidney Burleson, Miss Maxwell Church, Capt. Roy Glen and Louis Thompson. Miss Sims will do an Apache dance. Miss Joanne Bankhead will also do a solo dance, and Capt. Glen and Mr. Thompson will both sing solos.

Among those who have taken boxes for the recent Vice President and Mrs. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. William Howard Taft and the Secretary to the President and Mrs. Joseph Tamm, other boxholders will be announced later.

One hundred women (f) will take up a silver collection at intermissions during the performance and a large contribution is expected.

All of Washington will probably wend its way to the Monument Lot on Saturday afternoon as there will be two large celebrations for the recent return of the President and the other side of the monument from the Sylvan Theater, the Play-ground Association will put on their annual May festival, and some hundred little tots will do Maypole dancing for the benefit of the drive, and this will be followed by the pageant at the Sylvan Theater.

The National Society of the Colonial Dames in the District of Columbia will give a reception at the Washington Club today in compliment to the biennial council of the National Society of Colonial Dames.

The Club of Colonial Dames will give a large reception yesterday at their club house in K street in honor of the National Council of Colonial Dames. Mrs. William Bailey Lamar, president of the National Society, received the guests, assisted by the president and past presidents of the Club of Colonial Dames, Mrs. Glen Brenner, president, and Mrs. Samuel Spencer, Mrs. Hughes Oliphant, Mrs. Eugene Van Rensselaer, and Mrs. Edward Green, all past presidents.

THE CAVE MAN TYPE MAKES MOST THRILLING LOVER SAYS ACTRESS

BY JUNE ELVIDGE

The most thrilling experience in the world is to be made love to by the "cave man" lover; that is, if one likes that kind of thrill.

Masterful, overwhelming, all-consuming, brooding no delay; careless of consequences, the "cave man" lover is only for the type of girl who wants to be mastered, wants to be governed, and loves to be loved passionately and overwhelmingly.

If you have a cave man for a lover, better make up your mind quickly as to whether you want him or not. If you do, nothing more is needed on your part except yielding; if you do not, better send him away quickly and finally.

Some women need cave men for husbands. Others would be miserable with such mates. If you are of the soft, yielding type, that needs shelter and protection, one who wants to be mastered and dominated, who likes to be loved passionately, the cave man type of lover will suit you.

If you are self-reliant, accustomed to making your own decisions, and ordering your own life, beware of the cave man lover. He is not for you.

Tomorrow—The Artistic Lover.

UNCOOKED MAYONNAISE.

To the beaten yolk of 1 egg add 1 tablespoonful of salt and a pinch of cayenne pepper, together with 1 teaspoonful of prepared mustard or Worcestershire sauce. Add the olive oil to the egg yolk a few drops at a time, beating constantly with a silver fork. Alternate the oil with teaspoonful of lemon juice. When 3 tablespoonfuls of juice and 1 scant cupful of olive oil are mixed with the egg the dressing should be smooth and glossy.

CHICKEN CROQUETTES.

1 1/2 cups of cold chicken, 1 tablespoonful flour, 1/4 cup milk or stock, 1/4 cup onion juice, 1/4 teaspoonful salt, 1/4 teaspoonful pepper, 1 egg.

Cook the flour in the butter; add the milk gradually; then the seasoning and chicken. Remove from the fire; add the egg, well beaten; mix and cool. Shape in cones or croquettes and dip in egg batter made with beaten egg and milk. Roll in cracker or bread crumbs, and fry to a light brown in deep fat.

Virginia Lee's Personal Answers To Herald Readers' Questions

"Miss Lee, have you time to answer a question?" asked a woman who came to see me at my office yesterday.

Time to answer a question? Do you readers realize that it isn't MY time? All my working hours are YOUR time. The Herald has made you a present of them, and I am glad so many of you are using the gift.

YOU need YOUR time for carrying on your object in life. My object in life is helping you all to reach your goal—that is my job, my goal. And a most wonderful job it is—the opportunity of giving personal service to many people. So don't forget, you can help me reach my goal by letting me help you towards yours.

Remember, any question, great or small, from any person, young or old, will receive the immediate attention of your sincere friend—

Additional Pay Roll.

Dear Miss Lee: I desire information as to what the following phrase "Additional Pay Roll" definitely means.

I believe that the additional pay roll which you refer to is the appropriation granted to the War Department for the year 1919. After July this will be the appropriation for 1920.

Dear Miss Lee: Please advise me where the dress you mentioned in The Washington Herald can be secured.—R. B.

If you will send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope, I will be very glad to send you the names of the stores where these dresses can be purchased. We do not print business addresses in this column.

Friendships with Marines.

Dear Miss Lee: We are two girls of 19 and go together with our friends. We have met two very nice Marines and have been going with them for some time. They are very nice and of good families and we have been with them every other night since we met them. They have even made a favorable impression on our parents.

Any of these girls who are going to go with them, we both have friends "Over There" and expect them home in June and we are not engaged to them, so don't you think it is proper we suit ourselves about the Marines, as we are too young to worry over one?—BLONDE and RUTHETTE.

You would be foolish to give up the friendship of the Marines. If, as you say, they are nice boys and you four spend pleasant evenings together I can see no reason for not letting the boys feel at home at your house. Be sure that they understand that you consider yourselves much too young to contemplate matrimony and that you have other boy and girl friends whom you like just as well.

Squeaking Shoes.

Dear Miss Lee: Is there any way of remedying squeaking shoes? A Daily Reader.

Any shoe repairing shop can fix your shoes for you. In regard to the other matter you mentioned—thank you very much. I have taken it up.

Kissing.

Dear Miss Lee: I have known a man for over a year and have corresponded with him for the past six months. While here on leave he insisted on kissing me before he left. We are not engaged, although we have somewhat of an understanding between us. I had told him my views on that sort of thing, and he seemed glad that I did not believe in love-making in such a way. He says he loves me, but it seems to me that he should have respected my ideas. I think a great deal of him, and I want to be his friend.

I believe your ideas are entirely right and I am sure the young man

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE FLOWERS.

Uncle Wiggily Longears was hopping through the woods one day when he heard some one call:

"Uncle Wiggily! Wait for me!"

"Why, that's Baby Buntie!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily.

Then Uncle Wiggily let his ears flop up, so they could be seen over the bushes.

"Oh, now I can see you! Wait a minute and I'll hop to where you are."

Uncle Wiggily sat on a stump and waited. Pretty soon Baby Buntie came hopping along the woodland path.

"What is that yellow stuff on your paws, Baby Buntie?"

"Those are yellow flowers," said Baby Buntie. "I picked them for Nurse Jane."

"Yellow flowers, eh?" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "It is very kind of you to gather them for Nurse Jane."

"Have a smell, Uncle Wiggily!" and she held her bouquet of yellow blossoms under the nose of Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, Baby Buntie, don't!" begged Uncle Wiggily. "Oh, dear me! A-ker-cho, Ker-snitzi! Bushwah! Burrr-r-r-r!" and he sneezed many times.

"Now we'll have a nice game of tag! Come on, chase me!" and away she hopped.

"Hi, there! One back!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "Don't run so fast, Baby Buntie! The Pipsisewah may catch you! Come back!"

"No, you chase me!" cried Baby Buntie.

On through the woods hopped Baby Buntie, and after her hopped Uncle Wiggily. All of a sudden Mr. Longears saw the had old Pipsisewah jump out from behind a stump, and make a grab for Baby Buntie!

As he watched, he saw Baby Buntie thrust her bouquet of flowers into the face of the Pipsisewah. Right under his nose she held the blossoms, and then the Pip turned a somersault and he went:

"Ker-choo! A-ker-choo-choo! Ker-snoozoo-zoom!"

And he sneezed so hard that he sneezed himself away up over the trees, and far enough off so he couldn't hurt Uncle Wiggily or Baby Buntie.

Chapter XXXVII—Colonel Hays Has His Way.

"After dinner, Bess," said Crittenden, meaning the noonday meal, "I'll show you about. I want you to see the old place."

"Indeed," broke in Mother Hayes' sweet voice, "I'm going to let her rest and then show her over the house."

"My daughter," announced Colonel Hayes, "you are to drive with me this afternoon. Be ready by two o'clock."

I went with Colonel Hayes. Crittenden and his mother said no more after my father-in-law had expressed his desire. I paid little attention to it, thinking they had yielded to humor him.

Colonel Hayes devoted himself to me. It was a delightful drive. But he had not driven me to Winchester for any purpose except to take me by force away from Crittenden and Mother Hayes. He wanted to drive and wanted me to drive with him and that very thing we did.

Crittenden's father had been a colonel in the Spanish-American war, where he lost his title. None would have questioned for a moment his right to it. And I easily could see why he had been a colonel, leader of a regiment in battle. It was easy to guess that, with his father's years, Crittenden would have just such an appearance. Never have I seen two human beings more alike. I was to learn, too, that they were much alike by nature.

"You will go back to Chicago alone, I fear, my son," said Crittenden's mother, with a sweet smile meant for me. "We're not going to be able to get enough of your girl in just a week."
